Commercial Planning

Etere Airsales Lite is a simple commercial planning module with essential functions for scheduling commercial events and effectively invoicing them. It includes key features in commercial planning, such as timeslots and rotation tables based on fixed times. Moreover, Etere Airsales Lite can be tightly integrated with Etere Executive Scheduling, the module stations used to create schedules in advance, including secondary events, and perform last-minute changes directly on running programs.

Program Planning

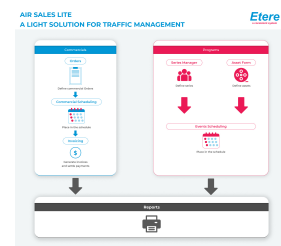

Etere Airsales Lite is an efficient and versatile solution for program planning, tailored for managing live events, news broadcasts, and TV series. Its key strengths lie in its speed and flexibility, allowing it to handle schedules composed entirely of live or fixed programming requirements. By eliminating the need for preliminary strategic editing, Etere Airsales Lite significantly streamlines the station's scheduling workflow. With this tool, there's no requirement to create a scheduling framework in advance, making it ideal for dynamic and fast-paced broadcast environments.

Series Scheduler

Etere manages almost all the daily scheduling of TV channels, making it easy to plan the broadcast of single assets (episodes) over an extended period according to the licensing rights. Etere also provides 360-degree control of all the associated costs, providing high accuracy and efficiency to broadcasters.

Etere Series Manager is a module inside Airsales Lite; it manages all generic series data, including seasons, episode numbers, scheduled duration and other data such as linked assets and promotions. Additionally, the module effectively manages planned TV series, including runs and reruns.

Accounting System
